MURDER IN NOTTOWAY .- Great excitement day last. 'S. G. Morgan, a resident of Not-He had previously had an altereation with Mr. John Farely, a resident of Blacks While Farely was coming out of his house at the Toll-gate, he observed Morgan who addressed him, at the same time placing his hand as if about to draw a weapon, when Farely stepped back into the house, took up his double-barrelled gun, and shot Morgan down, discharging successively both barrels. The first barrel sent its contents through the abdomen, and the second through the head. Farely immediately surrendered himself to Justice Irby, who released him promptly on bail. The affair will hereafter undergo in vestigation, though but little doubt is entertained that the act was strictly in self-defence.—Petersbarg Dem.

THE MURDER, on Friday last, which was near the receiving reservoir of the Washington aqueduct, at Powder-mill Branch, was not, it seems, committed in the District of Columbia. It appears that, according to careful survey and measurement, the District line passes directly through the house in which Mary Sheahy was butchered, and that the bed in which she and her little promise of a yield of at least 20 to 25 bushels sister were lying at the time was by about ten inches on the Maryland side of the line, and, therefore, in Montgomery county .-Coroner Woodward, on finding this, immediately desisted from further proceedings, except to advise that a Maryland coroner or magistrate be sent for to hold an inquest.

Coroner's Inquests .-- Not less than three inquests were held yesterday. The first on an elderly man named Thomas Whelan, who, on Saturday, was arrested and committed to the workbouse for drunken and disorderly behavior near the jail at the time of the execution of James Powers. In the course of Saturday night he died, and yesterday an inquest was held upon him at the workhouse. Another inquest was on a little boy drowned in the canal. A third was held on the body of a marine who was drowned on Saturday night in the Eastern Branch, near the Navy Yard, in which he was bathing at the time.

A VIOLENT DISTURBANCE took place on Saturday afternoon, at the Northern Liber- general meeting of the Alexandria, Leudoun ties Market, a large number of persons having taken it into their heads to wreak vengeance on two foolish men, who, in passing long, cried burrah for the States Hose, hurrah for the Baltimore boys! The result was that Officer Ross arrested two of the assailants and took them before Justice Williams, who bound them over for trial.
